Editor's Notes

Happy Mid-Winter

With this issue we detour from our usual format by presenting Ted Fagan's milestone work on the Victor alphabet in its entirety. We felt it would be more useful and interesting to have it complete in one issue; many of our regular features will return with the next issue. It was also necessary to reduce the size of the print to fit it all in. Hope this doesn't pose too much of a problem!

THE VICTOR ALPHABET *

* Being "An Alphabetical Listing of the Use of Letters in the Designation of Categories, Sizes, Dates and Other Details of Recordings Made by Victor and RCA Victor"

From the very beginning of its operation under the trade name of VICTOR, the company used letters to differentiate one type or size of recording from another. Although this same practice had been - and was to be - applied by other companies, Victor was one of the most consistent in its virtually unswerving uses of letters. Thus, a Matrix that bore an initial "B" was always a 10" record, regardless of all and any other details. However, with the changes in recording techniques and the multiplication of studios, recording locations and travelling units, new letters and combinations of letters had to be devised.

To a large extent, these became "Codes" which had to be deciphered and broken since most of the memoranda explaining the details to the different Departments of the company have either disappeared or not been available for study.

I think that this listing is comprehensive, and I have tried to include in it everything, however esoteric and seemingly incidental to the interest of the "average" discographer or collector. If, nevertheless, there are omissions, I would be very grateful for any help and assistance that may be given me.

The listing has been a spin-off from the compilation known at one time as "The Victor Project" which I have been making in collaboration with William R. Moran of California. The Victor Project has been re-named - for many reasons - the ENCYCLOPEDIA OF RECORDINGS : Part 1 : VICTOR. - and when it is finally published, will probably include this and many other articles that may have been extracted from it.

The ERV is a COMPLETE listing of every recording made by Victor since 1900 and up to 1950 and includes Commercial records, Private ones, Special ones, transfers from film to wax, Transcriptions for Broadcasting, Radio Spot Commercials ordered by Private firms, etc., and will probably amount to over a quarter of a million entries. These include dates, take numbers, compositions of groups or orchestras, release or catalogue numbers, both original and re-issues, etc. Most of the huge mass of information is already prepared for publication and studies are being made regarding its transfer to computer tapes.

The period from 1900 to 1903 (the Pre-Matrix era), and that going to the end of 1909 will most probably be published within the next few months in a limited edition and when the Uniform Edition is prepared, this first portion will probably also be re-issued.

This present listing is composed of the following sections :

- I - Alphabetical list of all uses of letters for both Matrix and Catalogue purposes.
- II -- The Matrix numbering Code established in 1951.
- III-- The Matrix numbering Code established in 1954.

Quite a few of my colleagues and friends have aided in the preparation of the original data for the ENCYCLOPEDIA OF RECORDINGS : Part 1 : Victor, from which, as I have said, this listing has been drawn and to one and all go my appreciation - and my apologies for omissions or errors which I hope they will help me correct when the final copy is prepared for the definitive publication.

The use of letters in Victor's designation of Categories, Sizes, dates and other details of recordings.

A.

- A when used as a single PREFIX indicates a 7 inch record whether Pre-Matrix or Post-Matrix period.
- A General prefix to Matrix used in United Kingdom to designate use of US material (i.e. A-27342 could be either B-27342 or C-27342)
- A In Matrix numbering Code (15 August 1951 to 10 December 1954) as a FIRST LETTER indicates that the original matrix (1st generation) from which this was copied, had been made between 1910 and 1919 (i.e. A2-RC-0008 : re-recording of a 1912 original)
- A When used in the SECOND POSITION of the 1951 Code, indicates Country or Western Music.
- A ALBUM designation for Argentina (i.e. A-49)
- A when following take number :1,1A,2,2A or even 1AR,2AR served to indicate the following : Selections were recorded SIMULTANEOUSLY on two turntables - the usual one and a 'back-up' one. This latter allowed a 'play-back' when necessary without damaging the 'take 1' wax. The two are identical versions and cannot be considered different unless so specified in the listings. When the '-A' take was used, this is indicated at 9 o'clock on the inner margin of the record, but usually this wax was reserved for 'rerecordings to supply new masters' when the '-1' take had worn out. It is this '-A' take that is referred to when mention is made of "Reference Acetates made" and indicates that one of these waxes was actually processed and/or kept for studio or technical use.
- AA Victor Records Advance Auditions (i.e. AA-27 to 29)
- A-165 Hill and Dale Special Job (double faced) as per M.F.Scott (1937 ?)

- BE Matrix prefix used for a short time during March 1925 to designate Electric recording. Replaced by the BVE matrix.
- BUDRICK - SPECIAL ISSUES - see JB prefix.
- BRINGING THE WORLD TO THE CLASSROOM - see SPL Prefixes.

NOTE REGARDING DEVELOPMENT OF VE prefixes to denote ELECTRICAL RECORDINGS.

- BE/CE Matrix prefixes were used during the change-over from acoustical to electric recordings. According to the Recording books, the following appears :
- "26 February 1925 : CVE-31874-3 VICTOR EIGHT ARTISTS :Medley - Part 1 FIRST ELECTRICAL CATALOGUE NUMBER : 35753.
- "11 March 1925 :(written in pencil: "First Electrical recording per A. Pulley,Chief Engineer Recording - 27 February 1953 - Western Electric equipment used". CVE-30045-2,3 Olga SAMAROFF (pf.solos) - not approved - not issued"
- According to the Diaries of Raymond Sooy:
- "11 March 1925 : Mme.Olga SAMAROFF was the first artist to make (electrical) records for commercial use".
- "31 July 1925 - "We made our first electrically recorded records in the New York Studio (R.Sooy & E.Raguse). Artist for this date : Mr. Jack Shilkret's Orchestra.
- According to Diaries of Owen and Hewitt (Electrical Engineers in charge of Electrical Recording)
- "13 December 1923 : Today Madam Olga SAMAROFF was in our laboratory for a short time, she played one selection (Dance of the Gnomes)".
- From the above, it becomes clear that although earlier experiments had been made, the official recognition as the FIRST electrical recording artist must go to Mme. Olga SAMAROFF, the title for the FIRST electrical Catalogue number belongs to Mr. Jack Shilkret's Orchestra" and the crucial date must be set as 26 February 1925.
- The Group known as Victor Eight Artists was composed of : Henry BURR,CAMPBELL, MEYER, Frank CROXTON, Billy MURRAY, Frank BANTA, Rudy WIDOEFT under Jack SHILKRET.

NEW MATRIX NUMBERING CODE - 1951.

The Recording Matrix number will consist of eight (8) characters in two groups of four, separated by a hyphen. The first four characters will constitute a code, indicating the year on which the selection was originally recorded, the type of music, the size, speed and groove type of the disc recording. The last four DIGITS will constitute the order in which they were recorded. The code will be based on the following schedule :

D5-VB-6543

Whereas for some time this code was strictly adhered to and re-issues, for example, of 1902 records were assigned 02--... Matrix numbers, after a while it was felt that this tended to break up the chronological sequence of numbers, so the system was adopted whereby the Matrix number assigned referred to the date on which the transfer was made from the originals to tape for re-issue. Thus E3-RW.... would be used for a transfer made in 1953 of a master, regardless of the latter's original Matrix number.

For the sake of completion, however, whatever A,B,C Matrix numbers (in the FIRST POSITION) have been discovered in the files and elsewhere, have been listed in numerical order. The 10" and 12" re-issues were usually numbered separately anyway.

see below for 1954 Code that replaced the one above.

The Association of Recorded Sound Collections will hold its annual meeting in Chapel Hill, North Carolina, April 23-25, 1981. Hosts for this year's convention are public radio station WUNC-FM and the Department of Music, both of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Among the speakers to be included on the program are Martin Williams (Smithsonian Institution), Dan Morgenstern (Institute of Jazz Studies), and Bob Pinson (Country Music Foundation). Other presentations will focus on such topics as "Early 1930's recordings by Stokowski," "Recorded repertoire of the 1890's," "The sound of early sheet music," "Spoken word recordings," "Current audio restoration and transfer technology," "Recordings of Fats Waller," and "A Feuermann Discography."

For registration information contact Kathryn Logan, Music Library, 106 Hill Hall, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, N.C. 27514 (919-966-1113).

HERE & THERE

The 3 pages illustrated on the preceding page are all page 7 from the August, 1928 supplement of Victor Records-- and yet they're all different! Collectors who are interested in original literature should be aware that for awhile Victor published separate editions of their supplements for different regions of the country. The first page shown is from the northeast edition; the second is from the midwest, while the third comes from the northwest. Code letters (NE, MW, etc.) at the bottom of the last page identify the individual regions. There was undoubtedly a fourth edition for the south, and perhaps others as well.

The reader will also note that there are records listed in the third illustrated page which are not familiar to collectors in the east; many never appeared in the Victor catalogue. As the heading suggests, they were issued for consumption on the West Coast only, though some of them eventually found their way into nation-wide distribution. No. 21383 by Hawley and Donahoe, for example, never made it nation-wide, while 21343 by Harry McClintock did.

Photocopies of these pages were furnished by Darrell Lehman.

In the near future we hope to begin sorting through all the MADISON data sent in by our readers. When we first undertook this project, we anticipated few problems. Instead, Madison turns out to be a discographer's nightmare with more than its share of contradictory data! In the meantime, if you have any Madisons that you haven't let us know about, please jot just their catalogue numbers on a postcard and send it in as soon as possible. We will get back to you immediately if we need further details of your record(s). We also lack any printed matter on this label, but understand that Woolworth's ran newspaper ads for Madisons. If any of our readers have access to any newspaper ads, we'd greatly appreciate having Xeroxes.

A reader writes: "I recently picked up a 'RADIO' record. It has a black and gold label. At the top of it is an old-fashioned radio speaker, the word 'RADIO' with twin radio towers on either side. The edge of the label resembles a 'scroll' Victor. It reads - RADIO / Record No. 201-A "Sweet Violets" (A Real Beaut!)(Covered All Over with Snow)/ - Part 3 -/ Five Special Verses. The reverse reads "Hootshe Kootshe" (Sing It with Me)(Benny Samberg) by the Club Cas-sada Orchestra (with vocal refrain) / Radio Record Co. 1658 Broadway / New York, N.Y. No takes are shown. Does anyone know anything about this strange record?" Mike Biel, where are you?

Help! We goofed. Shortly after the last issue appeared we received a subscription from a W. Cook. Somehow his address became lost before a subscription card got typed. Can anyone notify us of Mr. Cook's full name and address?

BOOK REVIEW: Edison Blue Amberol Recordings, by Ronald Dethlefsen

Edison enthusiasts are a fortunate lot. Another fine reference work has recently made its appearance and is well worth considering.

Ron Dethlefsen's book Edison Blue Amberol Recordings concentrates on the "live" Blue Amberols (as opposed to those dubbed from Diamond Discs) made between November, 1912 and January, 1915. To this end, the bulk of the book is devoted to a reproduction of original record leaflets and monthly supplements. One can now choose from over 300 titles and read along as the records play. (Imagine being able to put together a program of records with "period" annotations à la a 1981 disc jockey!) These record leaflets can be very interesting and informative to the record collector; their main drawback is that they tend to tell more about the songs' composers than the artists who recorded them -- a fault of the Edison publicity department and not Mr. Dethlefsen's!

Included in the leaflet section is an announcement and listing of the very rare series of school records. ("...these Records are just the thing with which to help the delinquent along and keep him or her up with the class.") The listing contains several records in spelling dictation, but there are also such intriguing titles as "General Problems in the Application of Percentage" or "Ten Problems in Analysis and Proportion."

However, the book is much more than Blue Amberol leaflets. It begins with an introduction by the venerable Jim Walsh. Following this is a lengthy historical overview of the Blue Amberol Record -- everything from the choice of the Amberol name in 1908 to the end of production in 1929. There is much new information to be gleaned from this section, including how to identify alternate takes on Blue Amberols.

Following the leaflet section, previously mentioned, are several shorter but important chapters. In the first, "'Live' Recordings," the author shows the nearly 100 records that came out after 1914 that weren't dubbed, along with dates of issue (as late as 1928) and original wax Amberol numbers when known.

Next comes the alphabetical index of all titles issued during the "live" years (up to January, 1915), again accompanied by wax Amberol numbers. The value of this information should not be underestimated, as the collector can easily ascertain if a desired wax record was also issued in blue celluloid, thereby avoid investing in the fragile wax version.

The "Performers on Blue Amberol Records" section contains photographs and thumbnail biographies of some of the more prominent artists during the early B.A. period. A performers' index follows, showing all artists who appeared on the "live" Blue Amberols, along with issue numbers.

The final section is, to me, the most fascinating: "Ediphone School Records." These are not the same as the earlier Blue Amberol school records, but were a series of celluloid cylinders made long after Edison discontinued records for home use. They were being made after the United States entered World War II when, in 1943, Howard A. Miller (son of Edison recording expert Walter Miller) dictated the entire process to an Edison Voicewriter. Much of this process -- from master wax to cleaning and finishing -- was certainly the same as in the days of the Blue Amberol, so Mr. Dethlefsen includes the entire transcript of it in this section, along with a photo of three of the records. The advanced collector who thinks he has nothing new to discover will surely be astounded to learn that production of these records continued until 1960. It's absolutely "mind blowing" to this writer to think that the moulded celluloid cylinder overlapped the modern microgroove lp by more than a decade!

The book is interspersed with facsimiles of much original Edison literature, photos of records and boxes, as well as a picture of two existing working moulds. It should be noted that only the records issued in the American popular series are covered in this volume.

Physically, the book is of the highest quality throughout. Its 206 pages are printed on heavy stock. The edition is limited to 500 copies and may be ordered @ $20.95 from Allen Koenigsberg, 650 Ocean Avenue, Brooklyn, N.Y. 11226. The price is reduced by a dollar to his APM subscribers, but after March 31st the price goes to $21.95 to all.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONIALS

A customer from Florida writes: "Your T-shirts are great!...it has helped to increase business (I buy & sell old machines) and I've had many compliments..."

Another Edison wearer says: "The T-shirt is a real eye-catcher. I'll let you know if there are any signs of wear after 3,000 washings at the laboratory."

Why not join the growing crowd of discriminating collectors who are seen in the best of places wearing our 100% cotton Haynes "Beefy-T" shirt? Printed in bold black on bright yellow, the shirt comes in S, M, L & XL sizes. Prices: $5.85 each; 2 for $11.30 or 3 for $16.50

Not brave enough to wear one? Carry one! The same design is available on a sturdy canvas tote bag measuring 13½ by 15 inches -- just the right size for carrying records. $5.50 each; 2 for $10.75; each additional bag $5.00.
